Caught Him

BAKERSFIELD Nov 6—Jas Hayes who murdered Jas Gollin at Tehachipi on the 20th ult was captured at Asaltico landing near Guadalupe in Ventura county Saturday Nov 4th by deputy sheriff Harry Blu[illegible]worth assisted by Doc Frazer The culprit was in a small house near the landing and was evidently not expecting molestation The shot gun which he had loaded a short time before with the design, as he said of shooting ducks in the lake near by was standing within a few feet of him when the officers entered Mr Bludworth immediately upon entering, covered him with his six shooter and commanded him to throw up his hands With a glance at the gun and apparently realizing the hopelessness of the situation he obeyed and handcuffs were placed upon him without resistance. The officers, with their prisoner immediately set out and arrived at Bakersfield about six o'clock this evening A good deal of excitement prevailed when the party arrived and if Hayes had been brought through Tehachipa the scene of his crime in all probability he would have been hanged without the formality of a trial He is now in jail under guard where he will remain till brought to trial Hayes evidently intended to escape on a schooner that was then loading at the landing as he had been inquiring about her departure and destination during the day

DRUMMING

PORTLAND Nov 6 1876

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

There has lately been considerable said about "drummers, and the drumming system, and it is fair to give one of the fraternity space for defense in your columns which are read throughout the Northwest over which the writer travels

If there is no necessity for commercial travelers why then are there so many on the road? All successful wholesale houses send out their chief salesman to travel and represent their firms, for the purpose of increasing and extending the trade placing the business on a safer basis and generally to watch their interests And as a result the "drummer" requires to be familiar with individual standing or "rating"—to judge from actual observation the particular taste the qualities and quantities of goods that will suit the merchants and trade of the town he may happen to be in, and to smooth some of those little difficulties that will occur in the "best of"—you know—which may have sent the orders in another direction

Numbers of country merchants almost entirely depend on the visit of the "drummer" from the house they deal with who keeps them well posted on new goods and new prices so that they seldom find it necessary or to their advantage to visit the house themselves and will, (strange as it may seem) in a number of cases, wait, sometimes with impatience, the advent of the "fraud" as the "Badger" has it—not to quarrel with him but—"glad to see you—old fellow what the d—l has detained you so long?"

It is folly to imagine that one who expects to open a connection will begin with misrepresentation

"Badger State" says it is such a luxurious life—good time—coin to spend—living in hotels (he must think that a luxury but all travelers think there is no place like home, where they anticipate rest and quietness) expenses all paid (there are some kinds of expenses that travelers foot up themselves) expensive liveries etc Much the drummer cares for teams he wants to get to a certain point without delay and generally gets the fastest team Probably "Badger" was passed on the road

"Badger" come now don't be too hard on us! Think of nine months in every year constantly traveling from place to place, with an oasis at long intervals only by boat rail road, stage team, or foot—anyway to get to the destination exposed to accidents robbery—even murder and to temptations of drinking gambling and worse vices passing dreary uninteresting days on a steamboat with the prospect of a 700 mile stage ride dusty and dangerous sometimes toting a rail to lift a stage out of the mud staging more at night than during the day want of sleep

Badger remember the hatchet take it back! and then tired and weary patiently take an order that will require hours with a pleasant face a joke really But such is life

Now let's "draw the Badger" He says "The whole plan is based on a foundation in direct opposition to economy" Undoubtedly the drummer is rather an expensive article but if he holds the trade together and makes new customers it is worth the money

In England commercial travelers are much more numerous in proportion than in the United States There the retailer has perhaps only to go 20 miles by rail to the whole sale house yet they prefer ordering per drummer and there are also town travelers but perhaps that is too fine for the Badger

What motive had the "Badger" for this terrible letter? Did the travelers shun his store or one horse town Did they refuse to sell him goods? Did they know too much about him? Did they take his girl away? Did they report "See records?" Must have been the love business

All kinds of business should be brought before the public through the medium of papers devoted to their interests and by judicious advertising

A drummer is a walking bill—so are newspapers like people are devoted to their own interests

In Portland the Commercial Reporter endorses the letter by publication Wholesale merchants in the country see the [illegible] of a wholesale merchant's motto to market rates they will be satisfied but not with [illegible] should be both to a [illegible] merchant [illegible] bought his goods at prices quoted there He would [illegible]

The [illegible] but you know [illegible] a Sunday paper and [illegible] accountable

[illegible] for petty [illegible] possible pettiness [illegible] their goods [illegible] paying extravagant prices [illegible] This is [illegible] the drummer's expenses and [illegible] country merchants [illegible] pay extra [illegible] to a drummer or any [illegible] known fact that if a drummer thinks [illegible] a little [illegible] prices and if the merchant says nothing the chances are that the order is not executed

See how he contradicts himself He can give better bargains better goods [illegible] and customers better satisfied by transacting his business in an [illegible] and economical manner Many people will buy a cheap article [illegible] They are the supporters of this system of drumming

The more I think the more I am inclined to believe that this "Badger State" is no merchant, but running a "patent outside" newspaper, and that a drummer has got his girl

Yours respectfully,

EL PERRO

LETTER OF MR BLAINE ON THE NEAL DOW CASE

[illegible]

TOLEDO O October 5 1876

Senator Blaine has addressed the following letter to the Toledo Blade

I observe in the Cincinnati Enquirer of yesterday a letter from Bion Bradbury Esq attorney at law Portland Maine in regard to a decision made by Judge Clifford of the United States Supreme Court in the now famous Neal Dow case Mr Bradbury counsel for the plaintiff in that suit is fully committed to all its long reaching doctrines and well known in Maine as one of the most rancorous and uncompromising Bourbon Democrats He is a fair and full type of the men whom the loyal Republican sentiment of the North will have to fight to the bitter end on all questions of this kind Only two or three points of Mr Bradbury's letter require my attention and I am compelled to write on the wing and of course very hastily

Mr Bradbury intimates that I have had in my possession ever since my Boston speech September 18th a letter from Judge Clarke of New Hampshire who sat with Judge Clifford and dissented from his opinion The inference Mr Bradbury desires the public to draw is that I have concealed or withheld Judge Clarke's letter all that time The truth is Judge Clarke's letter was not written till September 22d, mailed on the 23d and has been following me from point to point and finally reached me at Cincinnati three days since The letter is as follows and I give it verbatim et literatim

MANCHESTER N H Sept 22 1876

My Dear Mr Blaine My attention has been called to a passage of your speech in Boston in which you refer to the suit against Neal Dow recently heard by Judge Clifford and myself at Portland Your statement of the case is substantially correct, and forcibly illustrates the danger to be apprehended from these Southern war claims and yet it does injustice to Judge Clifford leaving the impression that he is in favor of paying such claims I hardly think this is so as no such inference can be drawn from his conduct or decision in the case He heard the case in the first instance sitting alone Neither Judge Shipley nor Judge Fox could sit with him He had the case a long time under advisement it presenting questions of great national importance and fine pleading He did not wish to decide it alone and it could in only one way be carried to the supreme court, to wit—a certificate of difference between two judges because the amount being about $1,700 it could not go upon a writ of error To enable the parties therefore, if they wished to take the case to the supreme court, he sent for me to come and sit with him and sign the certificate of difference as I did One great difficulty in the case is General Dow let a judgment go by default in a court recognized by Judge Shepley while military governor of New Orleans and that judgment is now sued here The judgment is conclusive if the court had jurisdiction, and the court was one recognized by the military governor, and its process was duly served on General Dow The case is one of difficulty but I am quite certain that Judge Clifford is anxious it should be decided right

Yours, truly DANIEL CLARKE

It will be observed that Judge Clarke frankly says "My statement of the case was substantially correct and further, that it forcibly illustrates the danger to be apprehended from these Southern war claims These remarks of Judge Clarke sufficiently answer Mr Bradbury's ill tempered ill mannered untrue assertions respecting the main point at issue I am not responsible for the report of my speech in Warren as quoted by Mr Bradbury I never saw the reporter's notes and never read the extract quoted by Bradbury until I saw it in his letter but was assuredly reported incorrectly I certainly never dreamed of calling Judge Clifford "a hungry Democrat" I am too familiar with the Judge's well fed and portly dimensions to apply to him any such absurd characterization neither did I reflect upon his personal or official integrity On the contrary I state that one of the most alarming features of the decision was that Judge Clifford belonged to that gnarled twisted ingrained, incurable school of Bourbon Democracy that honestly believes in just such dangerous and destructive doctrines as covered by this decision

Bradbury says the only point involved in Judge Clifford's decision was the question of jurisdiction of the Louisiana court Precisely The Louisiana court gave judgment against a colonel of the Union army for property seized and appropriated by a foraging squad of his regiment Judgment was taken by default, Col Dow being with his command in the field and utterly unable to respond to summons and certainly not dreaming that civil suits could be brought in the country of the insurgents against officers of the invading army of the Union I have always stated the case with accuracy and neither Judge Clifford nor Bradbury know why every other officer of the Union army may not in like manner be sued for all the property which his command may have seized and appropriated during the four years of the rebellion

Judge Clifford's decision is far worse than if it sustained a suit brought since the war for it distinctly recognizes if it does not positively affirm that while the war was actually going on flagrante bello an officer of the Union army is bound at whatever peril it might be to the Union cause to leave his command when summoned by a local court in the heart of a rebellious country and Judge Clifford without looking at the facts which notoriously surrounded the case nay shutting his eyes to these facts when it required great effort to close them recognizes the jurisdiction of the Louisiana court to interfere at the very crisis of the war with the operations of the Union army Judge Clarke says "Judge Clifford had the case under advisement and in presenting the case gave it national importance" The long time referred to by Judge Clarke covers at least eight years I am told It is not for me to say that Judge Clifford had not had good reasons for withholding his opinion this long time but it cannot fail to strike the country that the decision is promulgated just at the time that Judge Clarke thinks there is danger to be apprehended from these Southern war claims I have no right to comment on Judge Clifford's motives and I do not assume to judge them but I have a perfect right to discuss the mood and tense of his remarkable opinion and the danger concealed under that opinion is greatly enhanced by the reported expression of the Democratic candidate for the Presidency that every soldier who marched across Southern soil was a trespasser and liable to suit for damages in an action for trespass Ex-Governor Underwood of Vermont declares that Mr Tilden made this identical declaration to him during the war The dangers to which I called attention as exemplified by Judge Clifford's opinion were substantially these

First That an army officer can be sued and compelled by judgment [illegible] to pay for property seized by him or his soldiers at the South during the war

Second That in such suit [illegible] of the Supreme Court [illegible] [illegible] that [illegible] but that he [illegible]

Third That [illegible] Southern [illegible] United States [illegible] North [illegible] judgment [illegible] United States [illegible] [illegible] that this [illegible] rebel and this point illustrates the very danger I have been trying to point out [illegible] presents the rapid progress we are making toward paying Southern claims, regardless of the loyalty of the claimant With the Republican party in power the United States treasury was safe from the frightful raid impending over it but what I ask may be apprehended from a Democratic Congress, a Democratic President, and Democratic judges The passage of one short law covering only three points would bankrupt the United States Government and destroy the public credit These points are

First That no proof of loyalty shall be required of any claimant before the Southern Claims Commission now in session or before the Department of the Government or elsewhere that required by the United States [illegible] Court in suits at law

Second That the statute of limitations shall not apply in any case of war claims there set off with against an individual or against the United States If there be a question of law about the power to revive a claim against an individual once barred by the statute of limitation there certainly is none as to the power of the Government to revive it against itself and that is the point principally affecting the United States Treasury and the loyal tax payers of the country

Third That reasonable compensation may be recovered by all citizens of the United States for the use and occupation of their property by the United States army or any part thereof during the late civil war and in these words I am but quoting the language of a bill now pending in the United States House of Representatives introduced by a Democrat and under consideration by the Democratic judiciary committee, to whom it was referred in February last and who did not report it back to the House but held it for consideration until after the Presidential election Why did they not report adversely upon it promptly and decidedly? The courteous tone in which Judge Clarke refers to his belief that it was Judge Clifford's intention to do right belongs to the amenities of the bench and with these I am not dealing at present I only see that Judge Clifford did not agree with Judge Clarke and end as he might then and there all dangerous claims of this character I only see that Judge Clifford's great influence on the supreme bench based on long service and learning in the law has all been thrown on the southern or rebel side of this mighty question In short in the very language of Judge Clarke I only see that the case fully illustrates the danger to be apprehended from these southern war claims and seeing things, believing these things I exposed them where ever I have spoken and shall continue to do so to the end of the Presidential campaign

Very respectfully

(Signed), J G BLAINE

DETROIT August 19

Sergt (Col) [illegible]—My Dear Sir Press of other matters demanding my attention has caused me to delay putting in writing, as you desired, the story I related to you of an interview I once had with Samuel J Tilden the Democratic candidate for the Presidency

The facts are as follows In February 1865 I was discharged from the United States volunteer army in account of having lost a leg in the line of duty during the war of the rebellion I was in the city of New York and in March of the same year I was appointed to a temporary clerkship in the internal revenue service In June 1865 the office of superintendent of exports and drawbacks for the city of New York was created I was indorsed for an appointment in this office by the Hon Zachariah Chandler and the late Judge Longyear who knew me personally I continued to perform the duties assigned me in this office till October 1867 About that time Mr W I Warren the superintendent (than whom a more unflinching Republican or man of more unimpeachable integrity and business capacity never held office) was removed by the late Andrew Johnson to make room for a Democrat I suspected there would be difficulty in retaining my place and had a talk with the new superintendent about the matter He told me he wanted me to remain at my desk, but that he could not reappoint me without the indorsement of Samuel J Tilden the chairman of the State Central Democratic Committee He gave me a letter of introduction to Tilden stating my qualifications experience etc for the place I called on the great reformer at his office—in Nassau street, I think

Mr Tilden read the letter and then asked me if I were a Democrat I replied in the negative He inquired again "Will you vote the Democratic ticket this fall and work in your district for the party?" I answered that I could not In a sneering kind of tone he asked me what claim I had on him for the place I stated in reply that I had acquired considerable valuable experience in my particular branch of the civil service that I had been instrumental in detecting, on more than one occasion attempted frauds on the government thereby saving the government several thousands of dollars and that my work had been done in a satisfactory manner Added to this I said, I fought to sustain the government under which you are now living in peace and prosperity, and suffered the loss of a leg as you can see (I was then on crutches) certainly I might have a chance to earn my living in the civil service after this Mr Tilden flew into a violent passion With the most terrible profanity he cursed me for having gone to the war said it served me right, and pity I hadn't lost both legs. He insulted the memory of the heroic dead who had fallen on our battle fields He cursed the living witnesses and actors in that terrible struggle Can any man who has a spark of patriotism in him vote to place such a heartless copperhead in the Presidential chair of our glorious Union, cemented together by blood and unfaltering devotion? Yours truly

ALASKA NOTES.

Our occasional correspondent at Fort Wrangel sends us the following under a late date

One hundred miners will remain in the Cassiar diggings during the coming winter, which, from present indications, will be comparatively mild

The steamer Beaver left Wrangel October 25th having about thirty passengers bound for Victoria At the time of her departure the mail steamer from Portland had not arrived though overdue about ten days

A prospecting party to Shuck' river fifty miles north from Fort Wrangel, have returned to the fort and made favorable reports Several miners will return at once and continue mining operations through the river These diggings are clearly within American territory

The total yield of gold in the Cassiar region during the past summer will not exceed $640,000 The diggings on Thibert's and McDame's creeks will be worked more extensively next season than ever Those on Dease creek will for the most part, be given up to the China men

The series of brilliant hops which have relieved the monotony of Sitka life has been interrupted by the departure of several officers There are now only five officers and two companies in the garrison The Russian girls of Sitka are among the best waltzers in the country

About the middle of October the Gertrude owned by Capt Moore struck a rock near the rapids on the Stikine and immediately sunk No one on board was drowned A klootchman on board the steamer and what Hudson Bay rum the pilot had aboard were the alleged causes of the disaster The vessel has since been raised and sent to Victoria

The question regarding the proper boundary line between Alaska and British territory has begun to assume a serious aspect in the Stikine valley It appears that a Mr Choquette better known as "Buck" and one of the earliest pioneers to these parts, long since established a trading station on the Stikine river about ten miles from the coast Owing to the indefinite terms of the treaty, he has been able to maintain it as a British trading post ever since the transfer of the Territory to the United States, and, by avoiding duties has attracted a great portion of the Indian trade American traders in the vicinity have been unable to compete with him The custom house officer at Sitka having made an investigation and report of the matter the Treasury Department has informed Choquette that he must remove his stores to English soil within seven days after the opening of canoe navigation next spring or they will be confiscated unless passed through the custom house There has been greater or less dispute concerning the boundary line and if a joint commission is not soon appointed by the two governments to determine it the people will call upon Judge Lynch to settle whatever difficulties arise

The following is a copy of a reform bill [illegible] sent to each of the Democratic office holders and employes in New York, over the signature of Augustus Schell and John Kelly

SIR The Democratic general committee of New York are much in want of funds to pay the legitimate and necessary expenses of the coming Presidential State and county elections to be held in November ensuing and request from you for that purpose a contribution of [illegible] dollars

[illegible] that amount to the collector Mr [illegible] at your earliest possible [illegible] will greatly oblige

[illegible] speech remarked that [illegible] hundred million of [illegible] the Turkish [illegible] musket or a rifle or bayonet or sword by which a Servian has been killed in this war or unarmed men and helpless women and children have been murdered in Bulgaria that was not purchased and paid for by money borrowed from the credulous people of this country

The Tilden reformers assessed $400,000 for election purposes on the $3,000,000 salaries paid to Democratic officeholders in New York State

THE TERRITORIES

James Long of Olympia shot himself through the hand one day last week Accidental

Mr W L Clark of Clarksburg secured the contract of re-building the Stephens bridge below Oakland for $1,500 This will give the people the a good bridge for years to come

Sixteen thousand pounds of hops from Yakima valley arrived at The Dalles last week We are told that the soil and climate of the Yakima country is particularly adapted to the raising of hops, and the gentlemen who have invested in this new enterprise are well satisfied with this year's result

Gov Brayman has found upon examination of the law that the session of the legislature for Idaho has not been changed to January as was supposed but will be held in December as heretofore By a law of Congress the session of the legislature was changed to January in Montana but no such change has been made for Idaho

The Recorder of the Dalles having the other day expressed the opinion that a Chinawoman who, with others, had been arraigned and brought before him was somewhat to blame her "liege lord" blandly remarked that if the Recorder would permit, he (the Celestial) would take his wife into the adjoining room and kill her!

Thursday evening last week at Montesano, Chehalis county young Ezra Garretson, aged 17 met with a severe accident While alighting from a horse his foot caught in the stirrup, and as he stumbled and fell the noose in the rope halter closed upon his thumb, just then the horse sprang away from him tearing the thumb from his hand It was severed near the second joint attached to the dismembered portion of which were two tendons or leaders several inches long

The Olympia Transcript says Mr James Longmire of Yelm Prairie has given us more information concerning the coal beds discovered by him during this last summer The exact locality of the mines we are not informed, but believe they are in the vicinity of the Nisqually river, thirty or forty miles from its mouth The veins are almost endless in extent, very wide and of a superior article of coal, if not the best that has been discovered in the Territory. We have seen specimens, and should judge it equal to Lehigh Mr. Longmire informs us that it is not difficult to be got at, and that the grade of a road from the beds to the Sound is an almost level one. Puget Sound is the Pennsylvania of the Pacific coast, and every day brings evidence of the vastness of her coal fields

The Dalles Mountaineer says "Mr. Andrew Lytle, who lives on a ranch in the Ochoco country, arrived in town on Wednesday evening last with 2,500 pounds of wool, which he sold to Messrs. French & Co for 11½ cents per pound. Mr. Lytle informs us that a short time ago, while engaged in getting rock for building a chimney, he discovered a gold-bearing quartz lead, the gold being plainly seen in the rock with the naked eye. Mr. Lytle was not much excited over his discovery, as "once upon a time" he held an interest in one of the richest gold bearing quartz mines in northern California on which he lost $10,000 He had intended bringing to town a specimen of his "find," but in the hurry of getting away he forgot it. Mr. Lytle is a reliable man and an old and experienced gold miner, and knows gold when he sees it.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

The steamer Isabel, from Wrangel, arrived at Victoria Nov 1st with 250 miners and $150,000

The parties engaged in surveying the Fraser canyons were expected to arrive at Victoria on Saturday

The Colonist of Nov 1st says "The small-pox is dying out since the board of health went energetically to work But one case is now reported."

On Thibert several men will be able to work all winter in tunnel claims, and on the upper part of Dease creek three or four companies will do likewise

A large black shark attacked an Indian canoe off Gabriola Island a few days ago The canoe was paddled ashore, and the shark following, was stranded and killed with a spear.

From the amount of treasure shipped from Cassiar during the season the mines have been a success It is estimated over $900,000 had been brought out up to the sailing of the Isabel The Telfair will still bring another large amount

It is estimated that McDame and Snow creeks have yielded about $250,000, Dease creek $225,500 and Thibert creek, $125,000 A good many men will locate on Rositter creek next year, and one company are working there this winter

There are very large stocks of staple goods on Telegraph, Dease and McDame creeks It is estimated that there is enough flour to last 600 men the entire season of 1877 Not more than half the usual number of mules will be required next year on the portage

The steamer Beaver arrived at Victoria from Wrangel October 31st. The news from the mines is good. The finding of hill diggings on Thibert creek is confirmed, they are supposed to be very rich Diggings are reported on Tarcou river by one of the prospecting parties, but the extent and locality are not known The steamer Isabel, about due, will bring a large amount of gold and many passengers The miners who arrived yesterday have from $200 to $800 each

HAYES AND WHEELER MEETING AT EUGENE

EUGENE Nov 6, 1876

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

The Hayes and Wheeler Club had a rousing meeting here Saturday evening Hon Rufus Mallory, of Portland making the speech of the evening It is universally conceded that Mr M made one of the most forcible, logical and eloquent speeches that has been made here in a long time And it had a good effect, and awakened our people from the lethargy that had crept upon the community from the fact that they have been unable to have any public speaking during this canvass

Col Kelsay followed Mr Mallory in a half hour speech in his peculiar happy style, which often brought down the house

We have another meeting to night and you may rely upon Lane county giving at least fifty majority for Hayes and Williams

Our meeting was in striking contrast to that held by Gov Grover and Gen Lane here on Wednesday, when they had only thirty seven listeners and most of them Republicans

EUGENE

The St Paul Press says truly that all the Liberals except the hacks are supporting Hayes and Wheeler

FOUND OUT AT LAST

The Inside Organization of the Tildenites

HOW FRAUDS ARE TO BE ACCOMPLISHED

Vigilance! Vigilance!

As stated in the OREGONIAN the other day, the Tildenites had not let Mr Bellinger into plans for fraudulent work to day. That part of the programme is in other hands The inside organization has not, however, been kept so profound a secret as its managers have supposed We are enabled to give the details this morning with such certainty that the managers will hardly have the effrontery to deny it.

The headquarters of the inside man[illegible] are at the city Police building The [illegible] payers of the city furnish rooms for the Democratic manipulators

They have a TREASURER for the inside [illegible] namely, JOSEPH WILEY What they want with any treasurer except [illegible] chairman of the State Central Com[illegible]? It looks suspicious Doesn't it [illegible] picious, Mr Bellinger?

[illegible] have a general committee of the [illegible] management, consisting of Geo [illegible] E. Gahalin, J. M Gearin, Mr [illegible] and Mr. Love, who are to take [illegible] of the manipulation in different [illegible] of the county.

[illegible] to be done at East Portland, [illegible] several precincts of this city, and [illegible] precinct.

[illegible] in the jails are to be [illegible] to the polls and voted—and [illegible] for "Tilden and reform"

[illegible] show that there is a necessity [illegible] of U. S deputy mar[illegible] there is work for them to [illegible] will not fail now to see where [illegible] of their services may be re[illegible].

[illegible] view of the facts above stated con[illegible] the nature of the inside organiza[illegible] following questions are pertinent [illegible] were the 20 or 30 men who ar[illegible] y on the Cascades boat [illegible]?

[illegible] that came the day [illegible] here for?

[illegible] $150 paid to Lopt of East [illegible] managers for?

[illegible] the money come from with [illegible] number of hitherto impe[illegible] are so well supplied?

FRAUDULENT VOTES.

[illegible] the OREGONIAN con[illegible] and complete information [illegible] its qualifications for vot[illegible] election to-day. We have it, [illegible] which, we deem entirely [illegible] of colonization has [illegible] some time past, both in [illegible] Portland, and that a [illegible] of imported Tildenites are [illegible] eagers to vote. The [illegible] fraudulent votes, brought [illegible] Washington Territory, [illegible] as two hundred and [illegible] put it at almost double [illegible] lowest of these esti[illegible] large; but certain it is [illegible] number of strange faces [illegible] the streets just now, [illegible] of them exhibit all the [illegible] duct and bearing of hav[illegible] with the means neces[illegible] them to prepare them[illegible] work required of them. In [illegible] there is an unusual num[illegible] and suspicious characters [illegible] unusual amount of drunk[illegible] freedom from arrest [illegible] by the police, and a very [illegible] of loud talking for "Til[illegible]" It is apparent that [illegible] to encourage the [illegible] and reformers, and it [illegible] their number has [illegible] by importations [illegible] Columbia

[illegible] would have a fair [illegible] be prepared to inter[illegible] of these fraudulent votes [illegible] the ballot box There [illegible] at every voting place at [illegible] challengers, well ac[illegible] the city and county, who [illegible] every vote offered by a [illegible] they do not know to be en[illegible] privilege. They would, of [illegible] in this way, some who are [illegible] but they would exclude many [illegible]; and the lawful voter chal[illegible] very easily satisfy the judges [illegible] and have his vote received [illegible] who is desirous of seeing [illegible] against the fraudulent, [illegible] offence at being challenged, if [illegible] the challenge is interposed [illegible] and not wantonly The [illegible] should also be prompt and thor[illegible] doing their part to secure a fair [illegible]. The law allows them to inquire [illegible] about the residence and qual[illegible] of every voter, and whenever [illegible] reason to suspect fraud they [illegible] be too tender of the feelings [illegible] party, but should ex[illegible] examine him till they [illegible] of his right, or till the fraud [illegible] This merely taking the pre[illegible] form of oath, should not be re[illegible] as sufficient to admit the vote if [illegible] have reason to believe the oath [illegible] taken and the vote a fraud [illegible] should be no partiality toward [illegible] party, no relaxation of the law, and [illegible] perfunctory discharge of their [illegible] by the judges

The only ground for hoping for a re[illegible] of taxation under Tilden is the [illegible] with which he reduced his own [illegible] tax some $250,000 below what was [illegible] due.

[illegible] any one supposes that the Tildenites [illegible] in favor of a pure ballot box, an in[illegible] of the programme of the inside [illegible] which we give this morning [illegible] remove all such doubt.

[illegible] AND WHEELER, AND CIVIL SER[illegible]

We have received a letter from Victoria which presents such a picture of the condition of things over there as seems almost incredible yet the writer with whom we have no personal acquaintance gives reference to a person resident in Portland for his standing for veracity The point of the letter we have not space for its publication in full—is that the smallpox is an epidemic there that in the numerous Indian camps and villages about the borders of the city the filthy natives are constantly dying from the loathsome disease and that persons having it are permitted to roam about the streets and go into business houses without any effort being made on the part of the public authorities to restrain them The writer says this utter disregard of the prevalence of the disease has already exposed several persons who have just arrived and who were not apprised of its prevalence to the contagion and some have died in consequence All people on the American side are warned to give the town a wide berth and cautioned that if they disregard the warning, they do so at their peril The writer also takes the local press of Victoria to task in very round terms for not giving the truth to the public and demanding action by the local government for the suppression of the terrible contagion

We have given only a meager outline of the case presented by the writer omitting many details which seem too horrible for credence While we do not vouch for the accuracy of the story it is evident that there has been culpable neglect for otherwise the disease could have had no such long continued run as it has had, in so small a town as Victoria

The Tilden reformers expect the votes to day in this city of at least a hundred persons who are not citizens of Oregon, and the Lord knows how many they count on bribing

European bankers to whom we have always looked when it was necessary to negotiate a loan of money to the government, are ready to take our bonds at the low rate of 4½ per cent interest, provided Hayes is elected, but until his election is secured, they decline to loan any money to our government They say the election of Tilden would in all probability derange the finances of the government disturb values, destroy commerce, break down manufactures, paralyze all branches of industry and thus render the bonds of the nation an unsafe investment They are not partisans They can have no interest in American politics from a merely partisan point of view But they understand their own business, and will not risk their money in the whirlpool of disorder and confusion which would inevitably result from turning the government over to the hands of the Democratic reactionists

REMEMBER, the next Congress will be Republican, and RICHARD WILLIAMS' election will give Oregon favorable standing

If you want to place the Kuklux in a position to trample upon and re enslave the 4 000,000 colored people of the south if you want to deprive of their liberties the colored soldiers, who imperiled their lives on a hundred battle fields to secure the blessings of free government for you and your children, if you want to re-enslave the widows and children of the black men who died that you and your children might continue to enjoy the rights of "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness;" if these are the ends you would attain by this election, vote for Tilden and Hendricks and Lafayette Lane, but if not, then vote for Hayes and Wheeler and Richard Williams, the candidates of the party of liberty justice and equal rights

DON'T FORGET that Lafayette Lane went back on Oregon and voted for the rag-baby

Tilden and his band of hungry brothers will have to remain on the back seats indefinitely The people have not forgotten the administration of James Buchanan, by which they were plundered of more money than in all the Republican administrations from that day to this The election of Tilden President would almost certainly inaugurate another era of Democratic plundering which, with the opportunities afforded the vastly extended operations of the government would exceed even the infamous administration of the President who could not find any authority in the Constitution for saving the Union

Bogus tickets in circulation Look out for them

Lots of imported voters from Washington Territory Let every citizen vote in his own precinct, so as not to crowd the polls, and let every stranger be challenged and the truth found out about him A fair election means a Republican victory

Vote for Hayes and Wheeler, and help to save the nation's credit

The immense demonstration last night showed that the hearts of the people of Oregon are in the right place Equal rights for rich and poor civil service reform and hard money That is what the enthusiasm for Hayes and Wheeler and Richard Williams means

Dick Williams will never go back on his constituents as Lane did

If you have a moment to spare read the letter of Rev Mr Flowers published this morning relating to an interview with Samuel J Tilden It will give you a clear idea of what Mr Tilden thinks of Union soldiers, and his theory of civil service reform

AN HONEST, CONSCIENTIOUS VOTE and a REPUBLICAN VICTORY

After the inauguration of President Hayes, we shall hear no more of the confiscation of the wages of the officers and clerks of the government, in order to raise election funds

Vote for RICHARD WILLIAMS and hard money

The people of Multnomah county pay their taxes and they are not going to vote for Tilden who concealed his income to keep from paying his

It was Samuel J Tilden that swindled the government out of his income tax

The telegraph line grounded south of Yreka last night at nine o clock

Hayes and Wheeler and no more Kukluxism

Don't let the Tildenites get in their fraudulent votes

Vote and a[illegible] be [illegible]

VOTES BEFORE [illegible] VOTES TO DAY

Shut out all the imported votes

GRAND REPUBLICAN RALLY.

THE GREATEST POLITICAL MEETING EVER HELD IN OREGON—REPUBLICANS IN LINE—FIREWORKS, TORCHLIGHT PROCESSION, MUSIC AND SPEECHES.

As a fitting close to the stirring canvass made by the Republicans in this State, the greatest political demonstration which ever took place in Oregon, without a single exception, came off in this city last night. The only preparation made was the procurement of music and torches, and the only thing lacking was a sufficient number of the latter to accommodate the vast crowds of voters who desired to demonstrate their fealty to the principles which were supported by the nation's defenders on a hundred battle-fields, the principle of a free government and the equal rights of all men before the law.

At an early hour in the evening, the boats from Vancouver and the train from the South, came with hundreds of enthusiastic men, with flaming torches and stirring music ready to join the citizens of Multnomah county in the grand demonstration about to occur. The weather was pleasant and such an

OUTPOURING OF THE PEOPLE

Has never before been witnessed in our State. It was more like our Centennial Fourth of July than any other gathering to which we can compare it. The whole city was on the street, and when the hour arrived for the formation of the torch-light procession there was a grand rush for the hundreds of torches that had been provided, and as the long line of men of all classes filed into First street it became apparent that nothing like such a demonstration had ever been seen in Portland. It was observed on all hands that there were more men with torches than ever joined in a similar procession on any occasion in the State; more enthusiasm displayed, and a fuller representation of the bona fide residents and voters than ever participated in any political demonstration on the northwest coast before.

THE PROCESSION FORMED

At half-past 7 o'clock, under the direction of the Grand Marshal, Wm. Kapus, Esq., in the following order:

Grand Marshal.
Twenty-third U. S. Infantry Band.
American Flag.
East Portland Hayes and Wheeler Club.
Oregon City Hayes and Wheeler Club.
Delegations from Salem, Albany, Corvallis and Vancouver.
Marshal.
Portland Hayes and Wheeler Club.
Young Men's Hayes and Wheeler Club.
Marshal.
Northwestern Band.
Soldiers' and Sailors' Hayes and Wheeler Club.
German Hayes and Wheeler Club.
Marshal.
Citizens.
Executive Committee of Hayes and Wheeler Club.

The procession was formed on First street, along which the line of march was continued to Main street, then up Main to Fourth and up Fourth to Montgomery. Countermarching at Montgomery, the long procession, with its hundred glaring torches and significant transparencies, came down Front to C, down C to First, up First to Pine, down Pine to Front, up Front to Alder, up Alder to First, and down First to Oro Fino Theater.

During the time the procession was moving over the route Oro Fino Theater was thrown open to ladies and their escorts. Before the procession disbanded in front of the Republican headquarters, the building was comfortably filled. When the doors were opened a general rush took place for the interior of the building, and in a few minutes every available inch was occupied. After the auditorium was jammed to repletion, the doors were closed, and officers stationed at the entrances to prevent the surging crowds from entering. The committee having the affair in charge, anticipating that the headquarters would prove inadequate to accommodate the crowd, had made every arrangement for speaking on the outside. A temporary platform was constructed on the edge of the sidewalk in front of the theater, and as soon as no more could enter the building, speaking commenced on the

OUTSIDE.

At least 1,500 persons were present when the speaking commenced, the street and sidewalks being thronged for a block. Hon. R. Williams was the first speaker introduced. His appearance was the signal for prolonged applause, cheers after cheers being given for the speaker and for Hayes and Wheeler. Mr. Williams spoke for only a few minutes, during which time he talked rapid and to the point, pouring hot shot into the ranks of the Democracy. His stirring remarks warmed the immense assemblage up to the highest pitch of enthusiasm. The cheering was continuous and deafening, frequently interrupting the speaker's remarks for some minutes. When Mr. Williams retired the wildest excitement prevailed, and for some time nothing could be heard but prolonged cheering and the waving of lights and swinging of hats.

Hon. Joseph N. Dolph was the second speaker introduced, who addressed the vast crowd for about three-quarters of an hour. Mr. Dolph's remarks elicited the most hearty demonstrations of approval. He drove the spikes through the old rotten hulk of Democracy and clinched them firmly on the other side, and before he got through, he perforated it so thoroughly that but little remained visible. Mr. Dolph made one of his best efforts, and its telling effects will be apparent at the polls to-day.

Dr. T. J. Sloan was called for next, who addressed the crowd in his peculiar style, which, while it was not so logical and convincing, afforded the crowd great merriment, and drew forth at times the most tumultuous applause.

Hon. Rufus Mallory came next, and for some time entertained the crowd. Of Mr. Mallory's remarks it is superfluous to speak. He is one of the strongest and most effective public speakers in the State, and his effort last evening not only had the effect to stir up great enthusiasm for the time being, but no doubt settled the minds of those who were still wavering and undecided. Mr. Mallory's speech closed the meeting on the outside.

Although the speaking lasted for more than two and a half hours, the crowd did not diminish, notwithstanding the night was cold and disagreeable; nor was the enthusiasm dampened by the unpropitious state of the weather. In fact a more popular and public uprising of Republicanism has not been witnessed in Portland for many years, if, indeed, ever before in her history. To a stranger it would really appear that there were no Democrats in the city.

ON THE INSIDE

The enthusiasm was in no respect less hearty. After the house was jammed to its fullest capacity, the meeting was called to order by the president, Judge J. H. Woodward. On the stage were ex-Senator Corbett, H. Thielsen, Esq., and other prominent gentlemen.

The first was a song by the Amphion, followed by the Star Spangled Banner by the Infantry Band.

Hon. W. B. Higby was then introduced, and for an hour and a half he held the vast crowd, with which the large hall was densely jammed, perfectly spell-bound with his eloquence. As he poured forth a torrent of argument invective and stirring appeal, the vast audience was fairly carried with wild enthusiasm. His speech was well received and will tell in the election to day.

At the close of Mr. Higby's address the Amphions sang one of their soul stirring songs, and the band played "Marching Through Georgia."

Mr. Williams, our next Representative in Congress, came forward in response to loud calls and kept the audience delighted with one of the best speeches made during the campaign and the immense throng departed with applause, loud cheers, and amid thundering applause, resolved to do their utmost for Hayes and Wheeler and Richard Williams.

All along the line of march the way was illuminated by blazing sky rockets and Roman candles, which were sent off through the air at short intervals by Prof. Hughes, the well known pyrotechnist, who preceded the procession.

THE OREGONIAN COMPLIMENTED.

As the long procession marched up Front street, past Stark, there was a neat display of fireworks in front of the OREGONIAN office. This compliment was observed by those who formed the procession, and "Three cheers for the OREGONIAN" was shouted forth from hundreds of lips. As other parts of the procession came opposite the office, the cheering was caught up and passed along, until the very welkin was made to ring with the hearty refrain.

TRANSPARENCIES.

The following were the Hayes and Wheeler club and Young Men's club, of Portland, transparencies:

"The Democracy. What Great Principles has it ever advocated?"

"In Oregon the Pulse Keeps Time with the Great Heart of Humanity."

"Oregon may Decide the Contest; Let no Republican Fail to Vote."

"No Chains for the Hands; No Fetters for the Soul."

"In 1861 We Beat Them on the Battlefields, In 1876 We Will Beat Them at the Ballot-box."

"Close Up for the Fight, They Mean Business."

"Let the Pacific Coast be a Unit for Hayes and Wheeler."

"Free Men, Free Vote, Free Schools."

"I am in favor of this being a Nation."

"Our Public Schools Must and Shall be Preserved."

"Oregon—We'll Wheeler in to-morrow."

"We have no Followers; we are all Leaders."

"The Blue for Hayes and Wheeler; the Gray for Tilden."

"The election looks a little 'Hayes y' to us."

"The soldiers for Williams and forninst Lane."

"The Democracy—what step in human progress has it not opposed?"

"Live within your income—Tax."

"Review the soldiers at the front."

"Will you have your taxes increased to pay the Southern war claims?"

"We vote as we fought,—for the right."

The following belonged to the Hayes and Wheeler Club of East Portland:

"Business, no nonsense."

"East Portland O. K."

"Hard money don't show two faces."

"Dick Williams, you bet."

"Always true to Oregon."

"For Congress, Richard Williams."

"We march to victory."

"Democracy played out, 1860."

"We are bound to win."

The Hayes and Wheeler club of Astoria had the following:

"Astoria's drop in the mighty current to sweep Hayes and Wheeler to victory in November."

"Republican hash—Honesty, integrity, manhood and love of country; Democratic hash—Fraud, chicanery, lying and hatred of the Union."

"By the Eternal, the Union must and shall be preserved."—A. Jackson.

"Blood is thicker than water."

"A government of the people, for the people, by the people."—A. Lincoln.

A GRAND SUCCESS.

The procession numbered fully 1,000 souls; yes, one thousand Republicans keeping step to the inspiring strains of three brass bands, and a happier, more enthusiastic body of men never trod the streets before. The laborer and the banker walked side by side, and cheered vociferously. The thousands of men and women that crowded every inch of space upon the streets through which the procession passed re-echoed the cheers or waved their handkerchiefs in approbation. The scene was one calculated to enthuse the participants, and one long to be remembered, and will not fail of its influence at the polls to-day.

FROM PHILADELPHIA.

The following letter will require no explanation:

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23, 1876.

MESSRS. SETH LUELLING & SON, Milwaukie, Oregon—Dear Sirs: Your favor of October 5th, with fruit, received. The fruit arrived in most excellent condition, in fact in better condition than any received heretofore. Owing to its being received after the regular day for examining fruits by the pomological judges, it will not be examined until to-morrow, though the judges have not as yet made any report to the commission for awards on fruits. I can confidently state that you will receive an award. It is to be regretted that the legislature had not sufficient foresight and liberality to make an appropriation to cover the expenses of a complete pomological display for the State, but such as I have been enabled to make, through you and a few more, has attracted universal admiration and done an inestimable amount of good for the State. Hoping that all who have assisted me in making a name for our State by their contributions will receive the credit and rewards that are their due, I am yours, respectfully,

A. J. DUFUR,
Commissioner for Oregon.

MILITARY NOTES.

The commanding officer, Fort Vancouver, W. T., will, without delay, send in charge of a commissioned officer to Fort Stephens, Oregon, the detachment of recruits for Company B, 21st Infantry, now awaiting transportation at that post.

Upon the recommendation of the medical director, Assistant Surgeon Frederick C. Ainsworth, now temporarily on duty at Fort Vancouver, W. T., is assigned to duty at Sitka, Alaska, to which post he will repair by the next steamer and report to the commanding officer for duty as post surgeon.

POLICE COURT NOTES.

DECISION IN THE U. S. DISTRICT COURT BY JUDGE DEADY.

U. S. District Court—District of Oregon.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1876.

The Ocean Spray—George Kentfield claimant.

A [illegible] is not engaged in the violation of § 1,956 of the R. S., which provides that "no person shall kill any * * fur seal * * within the limits of Alaska Territory," etc., unless such vessel is used or employed in the actual killing of such seal; and a mere preparation or intention on the part of her master or owners so to employ her is not sufficient to constitute the offence, if for any reason no seal are killed.

A vessel enrolled and licensed for the fisheries does not violate § 4,337 of the R. S., which prohibits such vessel from proceeding on a foreign voyage without being registered, by touching at or visiting the foreign port of Victoria for supplies or any purpose other than trade on her way from San Francisco to the fishing grounds on the northwest coast.

[illegible] who are employed on a vessel to assist [illegible] main purpose of the voyage are mariners. So [illegible] can only be engaged in [illegible] when it is successfully [illegible] to accomplish the same result [illegible] this charge the libel is not sup[illegible]

[illegible] charge, the evidence is satis[illegible] the master of the schooner [illegible] he intended to go into Victoria [illegible] of procuring a crew of [illegible] expert in the management [illegible] and understood the business [illegible] and probably to procure any, [illegible] which he might need when [illegible]

[illegible] the authorities this alone [illegible] "on a foreign voyage" [illegible] According to the ex[illegible] of § 8 of the act of [illegible] 1793, now § 4,337 of the R. S., a [illegible] for the fishing trade may lawfully touch at a foreign port in the course of her voyage, provided she does not trade there. [illegible] Mr. Justice Story, in the case of the Schooner Three Brothers, 1 Gal. 14, "But in my judgment, the foreign voyage intended by the act is where the vessel departs from the United States for a foreign port with an intent there to engage in trade, and without an intent to seek employment in the fisheries. In Taber et al. v. the U. S., 1 Story, 3, Mr. Justice Story also held, that a whaling voyage was not "a foreign voyage" within the meaning of the act of 1803, ch. 62, concerning the clearance of vessels bound on a foreign voyage. In this case, the facts were, the Isabella sailed from New Bedford in 1834 on a whaling voyage and did not return until 1838. During her absence she touched at foreign ports for supplies but was employed exclusively in the whale fishery.

The object of the law is manifest. It is to prevent vessels engaged in the coasting trade and fisheries from becoming the medium of the introduction of smuggled goods, under the security and cover of their license. (The Schooner Friendship and Cargo, 1 Gal 49.) But if a vessel engaged in the fisheries only touches at a foreign port in the course of her voyage for supplies or repairs or for any other purpose than trade, she is not deemed to be engaged in a foreign voyage. The fisheries on our northwest coast are not so well known or long established as those in the northeast, but they are every year growing in importance, and many vessels are engaged in gathering cheap and wholesome food from this never failing harvest of the sea. The port of Victoria lies immediately on the route to the fishing grounds, and it is natural and convenient that vessels bound to and from them should touch there for many purposes other than foreign trade, and in so doing, according to the established construction of the act and the reason of the matter, they do not violate this section.

The information is therefore dismissed; but the vessel having proceeded to the waters of Alaska under a license to engage in the fisheries, but in fact for the purpose of taking fur seal there, contrary to law, and being found there and seized under very suspicious circumstances, a certificate of probable cause will be allowed.

Charles F. Wilkins, Casper W. Lindsey and 24 others have filed a libel of intervention to enforce a claim for wages as sealers on the voyage from Victoria to Sea Otter Isle, and thence to this port. The 24 others are the British Columbian Indians who were shipped at Victoria to take seal in the northern waters, and Wilkins and Lindsey were employed and shipped at the same time as interpreters—the former at $55 per month, and the latter, together with the Indians, at $30 per month.

This claim is resisted on the ground that the libellants were not shipped and did not serve as mariners, and their employment as sealers did not give them a lien upon the vessel for their wages.

Neither the charterer nor the master appear in the case as claimants or witnesses. Their absence is not explained; and it is to be presumed that their testimony would not be unfavorable to the claims of these libellants.

The facts of the case appear to be that the Indians were shipped with the consent of Dr. Wood, the Indian agent at Victoria, and upon an agreement made with him for them. By this they agreed to ship to the northern waters to take seal, and to lend a hand on board whenever they were wanted, for the sum of $30 per month until they returned to Victoria, when they were to be paid off and discharged. They went on board on April 27, 1876, and remained with the vessel until they were put ashore at this port by the marshal on August 31. During that time and especially upon the outward voyage, when head winds prevailed, they helped make and reef sail, heave the anchor and clear decks, but did not stand watch. They also were employed in procuring drift wood and water for the use of the vessel. They [illegible] by themselves in the hold of the vessel, and food was furnished them that was cooked for them by one of their number. They [illegible] the control of the officers of the schooner, but communication with them was generally had through the medium of the interpreters. The smaller portion of them could understand and speak English enough for ordinary conversation.

No case has [illegible] upon the point of whether a [illegible] is to be considered a mariner, and therefore entitled to a lien upon the vessel for his wages. It is admitted that such [illegible], carpenters, cooks, stewards and cabin-boys are considered mariners. But it is claimed that this is so for the reason that [illegible] all aid in the navigation and preservation of the vessel. But I think the better reason is found in the fact that they are co laborers in the leading purpose of the voyage.

Upon this ground, even if it be admitted that the libellants shipped and served as sealers only, they ought to be deemed mariners. They were certainly co laborers and the principal laborers in the only purpose of this voyage—the taking of fur seal. The seamen who have an undoubted lien upon the vessel for their wages only contributed to this purpose by navigating it. Without these sealers the voyage must have been profitless because the purpose of it could not have been accomplished. That nothing was accomplished is not their fault, and therefore it should not operate to their prejudice.

A principle of law—as that the persons on a vessel who are employed in promoting the purpose of the voyage or aiding in her navigation, shall have a lien upon her for their wages—must be applied to new cases within the [illegible] of the rule, as they arise.

Now, it would be impossible to give any sound reason why the cook or even the sailors on the vessel should have a lien upon her for their wages, and the sealers, upon whom mainly depended the success of the voyage, should not.

The [illegible] doctrine upon this subject is well set forth by Benedict in his Ad., § 241: "It is universally conceded that the general principles of law must be applied to new kinds of property, as they spring into existence in the progress of society according to their nature and incidents, and the common sense of the community. In the early periods of maritime commerce, when the oar was the great agent of propulsion, vessels were entirely unlike those of modern times, and each nation and period has had its peculiar agents of commerce and navigation adapted to its own wants and its own waters, and the names and descriptions of ships and vessels are without number. Under the class of mariners in the armed ship are embraced the officers and privates of a little army. In the whale ship, the sealing vessel—the codfishing and herring fishing vessel—the lumber vessel—the freighting vessel—the passenger vessel—there are other functions besides those of mere navigation, and they are performed by men who know nothing of seamanship—and in the great invention of modern times, the steamboat, an entirely new set of operatives, are employed, yet at all times and in all countries, all the persons who have been necessarily or properly employed in a vessel as co laborers to the great purpose of the voyage, have, by the law, been clothed with the legal rights of mariners—no matter what might be their sex, character, station or profession."

And there is a special reason why this should be so in this case; for the master in employing these libellants explicitly pledged the vessel as security for the payment of their wages for the round trip, whether any seal were taken or not.

When it comes to be understood that fishers and sealers employed on the northwest coast are to be considered mariners, it is probable that there will be some special rule established by which the amount of their compensation will depend somewhat upon the result of their labors. In this case, at first blush, it seems a hardship that the vessel should be bound to the libellants for full wages for the round voyage when nothing was made or earned by it, and they had comparatively little or nothing to do. But that is not their fault. They kept their agreement. That the voyage actually contemplated by the master was illegal they had no reason to know. The "northern waters" to which they agreed to go includes waters outside the limits of Alaska. What effect, if any, the seizure of the vessel is to have upon the contract is a question that was suggested in the argument, but only touched upon by counsel. The capture and condemnation of a neutral vessel dissolves the seaman's contract for wages, and he can recover nothing for the voyage; but a mere capture, without a condemnation, does not; and, in the meantime, the contract is only suspended and the seaman has a right to remain with the ship and abide the result. (The Saratoga 2 Gal. 164; Pitman v. Hooper 3 Sum., 306.)

But in this case the purpose of the voyage appears to have been abandoned and the vessel turned homewards before the seizure, and she has since been acquitted. And this was the act of the master, and cannot affect the rights of the libellants. But if we should regard the seizure as the cause of the failure of the voyage, the rule established by the authorities seems to be, that when the voyage is broken up, interrupted or lost by the act of the master or owner, the seamen are entitled to their wages for the full voyage, or damages upon the contract in the nature of wages. (Hoyt v. Wildfire, 3 John 520; The Mary, 1 Bl. & H. 334; The Uncle Sam, 1 McA. 77; The Littlejohn, Pet Ad. Dec. 115.)

Neither do I suppose that the rule—Freight is the mother of wages—can be applied to a voyage like this. But if it could, the fact that the failure or abandonment of the enterprise, appears to be attributable to the master and owner pro tempore, would prevent its being applied so as to bar a recovery by the libellants in this case. Besides the rule itself seems to be abolished by § 4,525 of the R. S., which provides: "No right to wages shall be dependent on the earning of freight by the vessel."

It follows that the libellants are entitled to a decree for the wages specified for the term of four months and seven days.

William Gallagher, the first mate, and six others, being the second mate, four sailors and the cook, have also filed a libel of intervention to enforce a claim for wages for the whole voyage, at the rate of $75 a month for the first mate, $50 a month for the second mate and cook, and $35 a month for the sailors, less certain advances stated in the account annexed to the libel. No defense is made to this claim, and it is allowed from the sailing of the vessel from San Francisco until August 31.

The matter is referred to the clerk to ascertain and report the sum due each libellant according to the conclusions of this opinion.

Chicago Grain Market.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—The week has been one of only fairly active business on change, and prices have receded somewhat from those of last Saturday. There are no new features in the grain trade, and few venture predictions as to the future course of the markets, believing that it depends almost entirely upon the condition of the Eastern question. The markets here respond readily to the wild rumors that are set afloat by speculators, and are in such an unsettled condition that legitimate trading is comparatively small. The closing price of wheat to-day was $1 04; of corn 4c; oats 30⅞. Receipts during the week—Wheat, 688,000; corn, 749,000; oats, 244,000; against last year, wheat, 748,000; corn, 481,000; oats, 450,000. Shipments—Wheat, 426,000; corn, 1,143,000; oats, 283,000; against last year, wheat, 926,000; corn, 886,000; oats, 443,000. Stocks have been piling up at Milwaukee much more than here, and this feature will tend to lower prices, unless other influences of a contrary kind are soon manifest.

Boston Wool Market.

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—The activity in the wool market continues, and favorable advices reporting a decided advance in fine wool in the English market had a tendency to strengthen ours. Fine fleeces in consequence are looked upon as a safe article to hold. The market is firm for other kinds. Sales of Ohio and Pennsylvania have been 181,000 lbs medium at 40@45c; XX at 46@47½c; choice Pennsylvania XX and above 48½c; Michigan firm, sales of 31,000 lbs X at 38½@40c; Wisconsin, 40@42c for XXX; Vermont, 38c for X; A No. 1 New Hampshire, 38@39c; combing and delaine in demand, prices steady and firm; sales of 132,000 lbs washed at 44a55c; unwashed, 33c; sales of delaine were from 47 to 49c; California is in good demand. New fall has been arriving quite freely and sales of 463,000 lbs at 17@26c; spring 184,500 lbs at 18½@ 29½c; pulled is in fair demand and firm; sales of 180,000 lbs at 35a45c.

Shipping Intelligence.

The Michael Angelo and River Clyde having finished their cargo of grain have both gone down the river.

The Humboldt has been hauled alongside the Central dock, where she will complete her cargo.

The City of Dublin, Corlis, Downshire, and Tam O'Shanter are still anchored out in the stream.

The bark Jamaica has been hauled along the Corbitt & Macleay's wharf, and is discharging ballast. The Jamaica is under charter to load with grain. She will be dispatched by Messrs. Corbitt & Macleay.

The ship Lebu is lying at Greenwich dock discharging ballast. She is under charter to load with grain.

The Roxburghshire is discharging ballast at the Gas Co.'s wharf.

The ship Ellen Bank commenced discharging [illegible] this morning at the outside wharf. In the afternoon she was brought over to Flanders' dock.

The steamship Ajax will be due from San Francisco to-morrow evening.

EXPORTS.

OBJECTS.
This Savings Bank has been formed at the desire and under the auspices of thirty-one gentlemen, citizens of Oregon and Washington Territory who have become stockholders therein along with certain other gentlemen in Scotland to supply a want hitherto much felt, namely an Institution where similar to those in California, the working farming and other classes of Oregon and Washington Territory may from time to time deposit their various savings along with the Bank's own capital for investment in Oregon and Washington Territory (to which the Bank's operations are limited) secured from Mortgages over City Properties, Farming and other Lands for the purpose thereby of assisting to develop the Industries of the North Pacific Coast.
The Bank's Directors and Officers in Oregon having had considerable experience in finance and real estate securities, their policy will be to guard depositors' moneys and the Stockholders' capital by loaning only on first class securities, high interest being a secondary consideration. The Bank does not therefore seek to employ its funds in a commercial banking business, confining its operations strictly to those securities with which its Directors are familiarly acquainted, such as real estate loans, advances on bonds, debentures and similar securities which are not fluctuating in value; hence no loans will be made on Promissory Notes alone, or Bills of Exchange and such like.
Security to Depositors.
The security for repayment of Depositors' moneys is two-fold:
1st. Not only the mortgages, debentures, bonds and other pledges on which the Bank's deposits are carefully loaned and the real estate secured thereby, which must be located in Oregon and Washington Territory; but also,
2d. The Bank's own $300 000 capital specially pledged for the safety of depositors, in order that all losses (if any) shall be made therefrom; thus forming a double security for depositors' moneys.
No charge for entrance fee or pass books.
Deposits received from $2 50 and upwards.
Rates of interest on application.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the District of Oregon. The Oregon and Washington Trust Investment Company, Limited, vs John H. Rathburn, Mary Rathburn, E. B. Dufer, A. J. Dufer, Jr., Henry Davenport, T. B. Odcheal and J. S. Glitner. Now at this day comes the plaintiff in the above entitled cause by Ellis G. Hughes, their attorney, and it appearing from the affidavit of the said Ellis G. Hughes, now read and filed, that the residence of the absent defendant Henry Davenport, is unknown to the said plaintiffs or its attorney, although they have used due diligence to ascertain the same, and that therefore it is impracticable to serve the order heretofore made in this cause August 14th, 1876, personally upon said defendant Henry Davenport, as therein required, it is ordered that the said defendant Henry Davenport appear and plead answer or demur to the bill herein on or before Monday, the eleventh day of December, A. D. 1876 and that this order be served upon the said defendant by publication thereof in the Daily Oregonian newspaper for not less than once each week for six consecutive weeks from and after Monday, the 2nd day of October, 1876.
